

Matariki

Matariki is the Māori name for a particular _____ of stars. This constellation is also called Pleiades (in _____) and Subaru (in _____).

The word Matariki has two translations:

mata riki means ' _____ '
 mata Ariki means ' _____ '

Different Iwi celebrated Matariki at slightly different times.

- At the start of June, the constellation of Matariki sets in the _____ sky. This often marked the end of the _____, when crops such as _____ were brought into storehouses.
- The first new _____ after the setting of Matariki is often used to mark Matariki celebrations in the 21st _____.
- The rising of _____ (Rigel in the constellation of Orion) and Matariki was also used by some tribes.
- Other tribes used the first new moon or full moon after the _____ of Matariki.

Traditionally, Matariki was a time to:

- _____ those who have gone before us and the contribution they have made to our lives.
- Celebrate the _____.
- _____ for the planting of next year's crops.
